In 1868, during a period of national revival, Jelsa opened the first Croatian reading room and library on the Dalmatian islands. By 1878, the library proudly flew the Croatian tricolour flag, and in 1880, Jelsa's school became one of the first in Dalmatia to offer lessons in the Croatian language. We anchor off the island of Korčula this morning, and tender to shore. Our 'Your Choice' experiences fill your morning, with your afternoon free to relax onboard, or return to town for a self-exploration. We sail south late afternoon with our eyes set on the emerging travel destination of Kotor

At 46 kilometres long and just over 7 kilometres wide, Korčula is one of Croatia's smaller islands, yet its population of 15,000 makes it the country's second most populous. Often referred to as 'Little Dubrovnik' for its medieval squares, churches and palaces, Korčula is steeped in Venetian architectural influence, a legacy of the stonemasons who flocked here during the Venetian era. The island is covered in dense woods and lush Mediterranean shrub, its coastline hiding many pristine bays and coves, whose numerous small villages produce olive oils, liquors, and some of the best white wines in Croatia; notably Grk and Pošip, which can only be enjoyed locally

Korčula's most notable claim to fame is as the birthplace of the indomitable explorer Marco Polo, with his legacy celebrated through place names and a dedicated museum. Cultural traditions thrive here, especially the Moreska sword dance, a captivating 16th-century performance, and Klapa, a popular form of cappella singing. With its blend of Adriatic charm and cultural heritage, Korčula offers a unique glimpse into the heart of Dalmatian life, making it a top destination for travellers to Croatia

Located a mere two kilometres from Korčula town, OPG Komparak greets visitors with a 300-year-old row of cypress pines shadowing a private entrance. This small distillery began production in the winter of 2020 amid a honey deficit. Beekeeper Maho Komparak, inspired by the abundance of bitter oranges in Korčula gardens, created Trut gin. Honey is added before distillation to unify the aroma, and each bottle is dipped in beeswax. The first flavour, 'Signature', won silver at the Berlin International Spirits Awards, and since then, this sweet gin has become a Korčula success story. We enjoy the Honey & Gin Experience at this organic farm, featuring an active beehive, gin distillery and olive oil production. We combine a tour of the farm with a tasting of honey, olive oil, marmalade, and the award-winning Trut gin.

Day 5 Kotor, Montenegro (Tender Port: Kotor)

Early morning we enter the fjord system leading us to the bayside city of Kotor. Montenegro's Bay of Kotor boasts stunning steep cliffs descending to a narrow inlet of the Adriatic Sea. Unlike true fjords shaped by glaciers, this bay is a ria—formed when rising sea levels submerged an ancient river valley. Characterised by its branching outline and large estuary, a ria like the Bay of Kotor offers exceptional natural harbour conditions. The bay's unique bay-within-a-bay configuration, featuring the 300-meter-wide Verige Strait, adds to its striking beauty. Our tenders transfer us ashore from our point at anchor in the Fjord to Kotor, where we find a selection of experiences. The boutique Balkan country of Montenegro, famed for its rugged mountains and stunning Adriatic coastline, is home to one of the region's most enchanting destinations: Kotor. This historical town is packed with medieval charm. Surrounded by towering limestone cliffs and clear waters, the bay itself is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The people of Kotor and Montenegro are known for their warm hospitality and deep connection to their land and traditions. Savour local favourites like black risotto and mussels in "buzara" sauce, all of which connect you to the rich culinary heritage of the coastal Balkan region. To complete our morning, choose to enjoy a Montenegrin wine, beer, or grappa, for a taste of Kotor's delicious local flair.

Option 4 – Morning experience: Boka Bays' Waterfront Wonders Experience the beauty of Boka Bay on a scenic speedboat cruise, when we visit waterfront villages, church studded islands and some rather unique tunnels. Begin your journey at Our Lady of the Rocks, a solo Baroque church sitting on a manmade islet in the Bay of Kotor. Here, you will find an original church built in 1452, adorned with 68 magnificent paintings by Tripo Kokolja. Our cruise continues to Perast, a charming Baroque village known for its rich maritime heritage. Stroll its cobblestone streets, where historical stone houses reflect the town's prosperous past. The centrepiece is the grand Cathedral of St Nicholas, a striking 18th-century structure that dominates its famous skyline. From Perast, our speedboat takes us to the intriguing Submarine Tunnels constructed by the Yugoslav Army, cleverly camouflaged with fake rocks to remain hidden from view, before we journey to Prcanj, a picturesque seaside town celebrated for its 17th- and 18th-century stone villas, remnants of its prosperous history as an administrative centre of the Venetian Republic. Finally, we visit the Church of St Nicholas and the Franciscan Monastery at the foot of Mount Vrmac, where we learn about the Franciscan monks and the town's notable explorer, Ivan Visin, the first Croat to circumnavigate the globe.

Option 5 – Morning experience: Regal legends & Rural Treasures
We travel the same route as the renowned Irish playwright George Bernard Shaw when he excitedly noted: 'The road to Cetinje via Kotor is one of the most beautiful in the world.' Our day starts at the village of Njeguši, famous for its smoked ham and local cheese where we savour these local delicacies alongside honey and wine – an authentic taste of the region. Njeguši is also known for its scenic views and historical significance, as it is the birthplace of the Petrović dynasty, which ruled Montenegro intermittently for two centuries. Continuing along the beaches of Budva, you will arrive in Cetinje, once the centre of Montenegrin power. Here we tour the residence of the last Montenegrin ruler Nikola I Petrović Njegoš who ruled Montenegro from 1860 to 1918. Although this is no Versailles, the building is full of private artifacts, which tell the intriguing tale of the Royal family, and the country's struggle for independence. After exploring Cetinje, we return to Kotor, with time in town to explore independently before tendering to the ship.

Day 6 Durrës, Albania (Port: Durrës)

Sailing south, we leave Montenegro and enter the former communist nation of Albania. Located in the south of the Balkan Peninsula, it boasts a rich history and a burgeoning present-day persona. From ancient Illyrian settlements to Roman and Ottoman rule, Albania's past is reflected in its historical sites, which are among the most notable in Europe. After decades of communist rule, Albania embraced democracy in the early 1990s but faced challenges with political instability and corruption. Today, the nation is undergoing a transformation, embracing democracy and economic reforms after years of isolation. Efforts to strengthen institutions and align with European Union standards are ongoing, offering travellers the opportunity to visit this fascinating country without the crowds. With a stunning coastline along the Adriatic and Ionian Seas, rugged mountains, and UNESCO World Heritage Sites, Albania sits at the crossroads of tourism. Visiting it now allows us to experience its unspoiled beauty and genuine hospitality before it gains wider touristic recognition. Sitting with pride on Albania's northern coast, Durrës stands as a testament to its millennia-old history. Originally founded as Epidamnus by the Ancient Greeks in 627 BCE, Durrës boasts a rich mix of Greek, Roman, Byzantine, and Ottoman influences. Its imposing Roman amphitheatre, dating back to the 2nd century AD, is among the largest in the Balkans and can hold up to 20,000 spectators. Another highlight is the iconic Venetian Tower, built in the 15th century, which punctuates its skyline and reflects its diverse architectural heritage. Durrës was also a vital hub during the Byzantine period, serving as a key defensive and commercial centre. The city's walls, some of which still stand today, were strengthened under Byzantine Emperor Anastasius I, who was born in Durrës. Today, Durrës thrives as a bustling port city. It is Albania's primary seaport, handling over 90 per cent of the country's maritime trade. With sandy beaches, lively promenades and a bustling market scene, Durrës offers residents and visitors alike a blend of ancient charm and modern convenience.

Our 'Your Choice' experiences offer a chance to immerse ourselves in the ancient, medieval or recent past of this fascinating nation. Personalise your exploration with our included 'Your Choice' experiences.

Option 1 – Morning experience:

Tirana's Paranoid Past
Albania's capital city has emerged anew from nearly 50 years of communist rule, revealing a vibrant metamorphosis marked by resilience. It is astonishing to imagine that Tirana's colourful buildings, bustling cafes and green parklands were once forbidden under a tyrannical regime. This morning, our tour centres around this remarkable transformation, focusing particularly on the city's Cold War past with a visit to an unusual piece of Albania's past. Bunk'Art 2, a re-imagined communist-era nuclear bunker in Tirana, embodies the city's cultural revival and remembrance of its solemn past. Unveiled in 2015, this 1000 m² underground space was secretly built beneath the Ministry of Internal Affairs from 1981–1986. Known as 'Objekti Shtylla' (Object Pole), it was part of Enver Hoxha's extensive bunker project, symbolising his regime's isolationist policies. During his 41-year presidency, Hoxha oversaw the construction of over 700,000 bunkers throughout Albania as a defence strategy against perceived threats. Bunk'Art 2 exposes the paranoia and political persecutions endured by Albanians from 1945–1991, highlighting a dark chapter in Albania's history. Located in the heart of Tirana's ministerial district, its damaged dome entrance remains unrestored, a deliberate decision, underscoring its role in preserving Albania's historical memory. (Sadly, the National Museum is closed until 2028, so we are unable to visit this.)

Option 2 – Full day experience: Kruja Castle and Bazaar

Our day takes us to Kruja, around 45 minutes inland from Durrës.

This captivating city perched atop a hill with sweeping views 600 metres above sea level, gifts us an insight into the traditional Albanian lifestyle.

Wander through its charming stone streets and explore traditional buildings before we visit Kruja Castle, once the formidable citadel of national hero Gjergj Kastriot (Skanderbeg), renowned for his courageous leadership and successful resistance against Ottoman invaders during the 15th century. Skanderbeg himself claimed that he had received a vision of St George handing him a flaming sword to 'destroy the enemy'. A highlight is time spent in the vibrant atmosphere of the city's bustling bazaar – a single street adorned with craft and artisan shops, cafes and quaint antique stores. We wrap up our experience with a traditional lunch, savouring Albanian fare before heading back to Durrës mid-afternoon

Option 3 – Full day experience: UNESCO Berat, and Çobo

Winery Journey inland one-and-a-half hours' to Berat, a UNESCO-listed town and a treasure of Albanian antiquity. Berat offers a nostalgic journey into Albania's rich history. Its most striking feature is the collection of white Ottoman houses ascending the hill to its castle, earning it the title of 'town of a thousand windows.' Nestled in a rugged mountain setting, Berat's allure is its picturesque setting, with cloud-tipped minarets and glimpses of the towering Mount Tomorri, which stands at over 2,000 metres. Our guide introduces us to the citadel, with views of the ancient Christian quarter across the water. Inside the citadel, we visit the Onufri Museum, with its 16th-century paintings by the renowned Orthodox artist Onufri, before enjoying a traditional lunch at a restaurant within the castle walls. Afterwards, we journey to Çobo Winery to enjoy a tour hosted by the Çobo family, whose wines are produced using the ancient and indigenous grapes, Kallmet and Shesh i Bardhë. We enjoy a hosted wine tasting before returning to Durrës late-afternoon.

Day 7 Sarandë (Port: Sarandë)

Our second Albanian port offers us an opportunity to view one of Albania's UNESCO-listed sites or spend time with a local family in one of the hilltop villages scattered in the city's hinterland. Once an ancient Greek and Roman port known as Onchesmos, Sarandë has witnessed centuries of civilisations, evident in its archaeological sites like the ancient city of Butrint, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Butrint's history spans Greek, Roman, Byzantine and Venetian periods, making it a treasure trove of historical artefacts and architecture. During World War II, Sarandë was occupied by Italian and German forces, and the remnants of military bunkers from the communist era still dot the landscape, offering a glimpse into the more recent past. Today, Sarandë is a bustling holiday destination, renowned for its popular beaches. The city's transformation in recent years reflects Albania's progress, with modern amenities and a growing tourism industry. Sarandë's population, predominantly Muslim with a significant Christian minority, coexist harmoniously, contributing to the city's welcoming atmosphere and cultural diversity. Personalise your exploration with our included 'Your Choice' experiences.

Option 1 – Morning experience: The UNESCO Site of Butrint

Set in a marshy landscape between Lake Butrint, and the sea, this UNESCO World Heritage Site is an archaeologist's favourite. Once a flourishing ancient Greek, and later Roman, city, Butrint has a rich history dating back to the 8th century BCE. Initially settled by the Greeks, it later became a Roman colony in the 1st century BCE and thrived, attracting various civilisations, including the Byzantines, Venetians and Ottomans, each leaving their mark on the city's architecture and culture. Key areas of the excavation include the Roman Forum, the sprawling Triconch Palace, a late-antique baptistery, a Roman villa, and a late-antique church on the shore of Lake Butrint at Diaporit. A highlight of our visit is the ancient theatre, which dates to the 3rd century BCE. Originally built by the Greeks and later expanded by the Romans, the theatre could seat up to 2,500 spectators and was a central part of Butrint's cultural and social life. Standing among its well-preserved structure, it is easy to imagine the city's inhabitants enjoying a performance. A visit to Butrint offers the opportunity to explore a lesser-visited site with less rush and more understanding of Albania's past. This immersive experience allows us to appreciate the layers of history and the diverse cultures that have shaped this remarkable location.

Option 2 - Full-day option:

This UNESCO World Heritage Site is renowned for its well-preserved Ottoman architecture and historical significance. Visiting Gjirokastër offers a glimpse into Albania's cultural past, as we begin our journey at Gjirokastër Castle, perched high above the town. After exploring the castle's museum and hearing about its time as a fortress and prison, wander through the old town bazaar, with its charming cobblestone streets lined with traditional Ottoman-era houses and shops selling local crafts. Enjoy lunch at a traditional restaurant, savouring authentic Albanian fare such as byrek, the Balkans' popular filo pies, and tave kosi, Albania's national dish of lamb and rice. This visit provides a perfect blend of historical exploration and cultural immersion, making for an unforgettable experience in the 'City of Stone'.

Day 8 Corfu, Greece (Port: Corfu)

We spend the morning on the Greek island of Corfu before sailing in the early afternoon to the mainland. Located in the Ionian Sea, the island of Corfu is a captivating fusion of past dynasties, including the Venetians and the British, with notable ties to Queen Elizabeth II consort, Prince Philip, who was born on Corfu. Its rich history is evident in its diverse architectural styles, Byzantine churches, Venetian fortresses, and British colonial buildings. Corfu's Old Town stands as a testament to its cultural heritage, enclosed by Venetian fortifications. Wandering through its narrow cobblestone streets reveals elegant mansions, Byzantine churches and charming squares. Venetian influences adorn the architecture, with arched colonnades, grand palaces, and picturesque bell towers. A leisurely stroll along the iconic Liston Promenade, lined with cafes and boutiques, offers views of the surrounding sea and distant mountains. Every street seems to lead to a quintessential British icon: a cricket pitch. Beyond the Old Town, Corfu unveils stunning beaches, verdant hillsides, and picturesque villages nestled in the countryside. Personalise your exploration with our included 'Your Choice' experiences.

Option 1 – Morning experience: Achilleion Palace and the Bay of Palaiokastritsa

Departing from the port of Corfu, we will head to the picturesque village of Gastouri to visit the romantic Achilleion Palace. Built by the Empress Sissi of Austria, renowned for her beauty but also her tragic death, she created this retreat inspired by her love for Greek mythology. Surrounded by classical Greek statues, the palace is a monument to platonic romanticism and escapism, aptly named after Achilles. You will have time to explore the manicured gardens, including the dramatic statue of the Dying Achilles, and enjoy views of the Ionian Sea.

Leaving Achilleion Palace, we will head to the bay of Palaiokastritsa. Here, you will have some leisure time to stroll along the beachfront and through the picturesque village. Next, we have a short visit to the Byzantine Monastery of the Blessed Virgin Mary just outside Palaiokastritsa. Originally dating back to 1228, the current building, including the church, monk cells, and courtyard, was constructed in the 18th century. In the courtyard, a 'wishing well' invites visitors to throw coins or pieces of paper with their wishes.

Option 2 – Morning experience: Walking tour of UNESCO World Heritage Site, Old Corfu Town

Explore Corfu's Old Town on a locally guided walking tour. The Old Town is an icon of the island, full of markets and shops. Day 9 Delphi & the Corinth Canal (Port: Itea)

Our morning affords us a glimpse into the life of the early Greeks, with a visit to the Oracle and former city of Delphi. Our local guides tell tales of pilgrimage, sacrifice and early faiths as we step into the world of Ancient Greece. Revered throughout antiquity as a sacred site where pilgrims could glimpse the future, the Oracle of Delphi cast cryptic prophecies for over a millennium. Dubbed the 'navel of the world' for its pivotal position in the Greek realm, Delphi drew pilgrims from all sectors of society, shaping critical decisions, from civic politics to personal destinies. Perched dramatically on the slopes of Mount Parnassus, the Oracle was esteemed as a direct conduit to the divine realm of Apollo – the sun god. Revered for his beauty and creative prowess, Apollo symbolised order and harmony. As a result, Delphi became integral to Greek identity, reflecting its religious, cultural, and political life. It was a unifying site where people from various city-states gathered, fostering a sense of shared Hellenic heritage. Our journey leads us to the very site of the Oracle, alongside the opulent Treasury of the Athenians – a testament to offerings made. We pause at the ancient theatre, host to the prestigious Pythian Games, and the Castalian Spring, where pilgrims purified themselves before seeking counsel. Today, Delphi stands as a UNESCO World Heritage Site, its influence enduring through the annals of literature, history, and art. It remains a profound emblem of ancient wisdom and cultural legacy, cherished by Greece as a bridge to its storied past. Returning to the ship, we have lunch, and time to relax. Enjoy a swim in the pool, or a cool drink up on deck, as we sail towards one of the world's engineering wonders. In the early evening, we navigate the Corinth Canal. This narrow waterway connects the Gulf of Corinth with the Saronic Gulf in the Aegean Sea, cutting through the Isthmus of Corinth and saving vessels a significant 700-kilometre journey around the Peloponnese peninsula. Stretching 6 kilometres and only 21 metres wide at its base, the Corinth Canal is one of the narrowest lock-free canals in the world. Its towering limestone walls, reaching heights of up to 90 metres, create a dramatic passage for vessels, which almost touch its sides as they sail its path. The concept of cutting a canal through the isthmus dates to ancient times, with plans proposed by Periander of Corinth in the 7th century BCE. Construction finally began under Roman Emperor Nero, only to halt upon his death. It was not until 1893 the canal was finally completed. Its construction was a monumental effort, involving the excavation of millions of cubic metres of earth and rock, all dug at sea level. It stands as a remarkable achievement in engineering and continues to be a key route for maritime traffic, enhancing Greece's role as a central hub in the Mediterranean. Exiting the canal, we sail overnight to the Peloponnese Peninsula and the waterfront town of Nafplion.

Day 10 Nafplion (Port: Nafplion)

Sitting on the northeastern coast of the Peloponnese peninsula, this historical town overlooks the Argolic Gulf, framed by surrounding mountains. Serving as the first capital of independent Greece, between 1833 and 1834, Nafplion boasts a wealth of historical landmarks that bear witness to its illustrious past. Serving as the gateway to major UNESCO World Heritage Sites Epidaurus and Mycenae, Nafplion offers visitors a memorable day out. Our final evening is spent as a fond farewell to Douglas Mawson, her crew and Aurora Expeditions team as we sail the Aegean to Greece's capital, Athens. Nafplion Walking Tour with Ouzo. Factory Tour and Tasting. Our locally guided walking tour begins as soon as we disembark, at the old port, where we begin our exploration of the town's most important sites. From here we can view the iconic Palamidi Fortress, perched atop a rocky hill overlooking the town, standing as a testament to Nafplion's strategic importance throughout the ages. Meanwhile, the old town, with its narrow cobblestone streets, Venetian mansions, and neoclassical buildings, invites visitors to step back in time and immerse themselves in centuries of Greek history and culture. Karonis Distilleries, a family-run business in Nafplion, has been crafting ouzo, tsipouro, and masticha for 145 years. Managed by Fotis and Yiannis Karonis, this distillery uses modern copper stills to produce high-quality spirits. Just two minutes from the town centre, we tour the distillery, taste the products, and explore a museum filled with artefacts from 1870. No visit to the Peloponnese is complete without a taste of Greece's most popular brew. Ouzo, a beloved Greek spirit, is an integral part of Greek culture and social life. It is often enjoyed at gatherings and celebrations, symbolising Greek hospitality and tradition. Visitors can also sample the Karonis's distinguished cherry liqueur, made from Arcadian cherries. Both drinks, shared with friends and family, highlight the rich flavours and heritage of Greece, making a visit to Karonis Distilleries a delightful and educational experience.

Option 2 – Morning experience:
UNESCO World Heritage Site of Mycenae. This morning, we journey through time and explore the remains of the ancient city of Mycenae, which was a major centre of Greek civilisation from 1600 BCE to 1100 BCE and one of the most important cities of Ancient Greece. Our local expert guides us through time, bringing daily life in this ancient city alive among its relics and ruins. This sprawling UNESCO World Heritage Site brings the Bronze Age city of Mycenae to life, as our curiosity travels beyond archaeology, fuelling our fascination for the heroic age of Greek mythology. Renowned for its impressive fortifications, monolithic architecture, and rich archaeological finds, Mycenae has played a crucial role in shaping ancient Greek history and mythology. Ruled by legendary figures such as King Agamemnon, who according to myth led the Greeks in the Trojan War and was later murdered upon his return to Mycenae, the city's story is central to Homer's epic poems, the 'Iliad' and the 'Odyssey'. Archaeological excavations at Mycenae have unearthed a wealth of artefacts, including intricately decorated pottery, gold jewellery, and the famous 'Mask of Agamemnon', a gold funeral mask discovered in a royal tomb. These discoveries provide insights into the wealth, artistry, and sophistication of the Mycenaean civilisation. The site's significance extends beyond archaeology, as it continues to inspire artists, writers and scholars, fuelling fascination with the heroic age of Greek mythology and the legacy of ancient civilisation.

Option 3 – Morning experience: UNESCO World Heritage Site of the Sanctuary of Asklēpiós and Epidaurus

This morning we tour one of Greece's most revered sites and the world-famous Ancient Theatre of Epidaurus. A significant centre of healing, Epidaurus remains a symbol of humanity's quest for self-preservation, with Asklēpiós' staff and wrapped snake recognised as a sign of the medical profession even today. Acknowledged as the legendary birthplace of Apollo's son, Asklēpiós – the god of medicine – Epidaurus's fame spread as pilgrims seeking cures for their ailments flocked to the site, and particularly the temple of Asklēpiós, which is today a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Treatments, combining religious rites with practical medical practices, ranged from herbal medicines to therapeutic snake licks. Clients travelled great distances to reach the site, which included a hospital, a guest house, mineral springs and a gymnasium. The Ancient Theatre of Epidaurus, built in the 4th century BCE to accommodate the crowds, is considered one of the most well-preserved ancient theatres in Europe. With a capacity of around 14,000 spectators, the theatre hosted dramatic performances that were an integral part of the healing rituals, as the Greeks believed in the therapeutic power of the arts. Today, Epidaurus continues to influence the world through its contributions to both medicine and the arts. The ancient theatre still hosts performances during the annual Epidaurus Festival, while the site's emphasis on holistic healing resonates with modern integrative medicine approaches, blending physical treatments with psychological and spiritual well-being. As a UNESCO World Heritage Site, its legacy as a centre for healing and culture highlights the enduring influence of ancient Greek civilisation on modern medicine and the arts.
